The Fragomen Fellowship – April 2011

Well, probably one of the most profound examples of Fragomen's commitment to pro bono activity is the Fragomen Fellowship that our firm established at the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, where we place a lawyer, at our expense, fulltime, year around to assist the pro bono efforts of the City Bar in the immigration arena. That Fragomen Fellow has in turn built a reputation for assisting other organizations who do immigration pro bono work and has helped the City Bar, we've been told over and over again by the City Bar, to increase its presence in the community as an organization that cares about people. And lawyers helping people in need is important to the City Bar. We feel we've played a big role in that and we're very proud to continue to do so.
